The following individuals spoke in opposition:

1. Shantoya Gilliard
2. Robert Vasquez, Jr.
3. Ralph Robles

4. Kathleen Bellyton
5. Max Cherubin

City Clerk Key reported that 32 valid written protest letters were received and that a majority protest does not exist.

Mayor Warren provided comments explaining that recent solid waste rate increases are largely driven by state-mandated tipping and processing fees. She emphasized the need to pass these costs to users rather than burdening the City's General Fund. Mayor Warren also reiterated the City's commitment to supporting seniors on fixed incomes by promoting available discounts and expressed ongoing frustration with state-imposed regulations. She affirmed that City staff and the Council will continue advocating with state legislators to limit future cost increases and unfunded mandates impacting local services.

City Manager Ballantyne explained that the proposed rate adjustments are necessary to cover increased landfill tipping fees and state-mandated processing costs. He emphasized that the adjustments are consistent with contractual obligations and are essential to maintaining uninterrupted solid waste services without impacting the City's General Fund.

Council Member Cothran acknowledged that while Burrtec is a business, its contract is competitively bid and consistently offers the best value compared to other providers. He emphasized the quality of Burrtec's facilities and services, the importance of providing livable wages for local employees, and the impact of rising operational costs, including state clean-air mandates. He expressed concern about rate increases but noted Burrtec previously deferred an increase to support the community. He affirmed that the Council continues exploring ways to minimize cost impacts on residents while balancing service quality and economic sustainability.

City Manager Ballantyne added that while competitive bidding is beneficial, having multiple waste haulers complicates compliance with state-mandated diversion and reporting requirements. He explained that exclusive contracts help ensure accurate reporting and avoid potential state penalties, noting that other agencies have moved away from multiple haulers for this reason.
